ABOUT THE PROJECT

CUS is a one-man progressive metal project from Berlin, by way of Malta. It blends the diverse rhythms of djent, the scope of alternative rock and the hooks of modern metal, turning personal struggle into songs that are heavy, dynamic and emotionally raw. Singles have been played on SiriusXM Octane, and CUS has taken its music to stages in Berlin and London. On stage, the project becomes a full live band, with CUS on vocals. The project's sole purpose is to serve as an anchor in troubled waters for those who really need it. Through its honest and vulnerable lyrics, and wide range of emotion in the instrumentals.

THE FULL LENGTH

Broken but Alive is an act of alchemy: turning times of helplessness into songs of solidarity. Barring features, every instrument and vocal on the record was performed by CUS himself, no programming. The album ebbs and flows between heavy djent, metalcore and softer ballads. For five years, CUS worked 80-hour weeks, split between a 42-hour office job and pure devotion to this album in every other free moment he had. All to be able to build a world around this concept album.

CUS LIVE

consists of Marcus Ganado (aka. Cus) on vocals, Kabir Bhattacharya on guitar, Dan Ganado on guitar,
Vignir Vidarsson on bass and Altair Chague on drums.
